

Warfare of the Turkish bourgeoisie, the misery of Kurdish nationalism and the massacre of the workers!

Nationalism is among the most dangerous cancers in the labourer movement all around the world that its extent of destruction and catastrophes in some part of this hell of capitalism in the world is more frightening than elsewhere. The middle east is one of these areas and the Kurdish nationalism long-lasting plague that has captured the class struggle of the masses of working-class.

Nationalism not only distorts the class boundary between the exploited workers and the exploiter capitalists from the workers' range of class consciousness in benefit of the capitalists, not it has only buried the workers' rage against capital and brainwash them, also not only mislead the struggle against the wage slavery system with the tragical class compromise, furthermore, Nationalism suppresses the masses of workers under the name and flag of homeland, patriotism and maintenance of capitalist relations that the nationalism relies on. Nationalism denies the workers' class identity and necessity of the class struggle for the defence and risk reduction of this or that bourgeois state. The existing foundation of nationalism is based on the most disgusting ideology for defending the fatherland of the capitalists by the propagation of class compromise while it is organising the repressive institutions to humiliate and transhape them in defence of the bourgeoisie and its class interests. Nationalism performance foundation like any Mafia sects between the bourgeoisie relies on brutality and atrocity to obtain an increasing share of capitalist ownership, political rule, more profit and benefits of exploitation of workers, the bourgeoisie for doing this needs a homeland and raise the flag of an independent homeland. The slaughterhouse there the working-class people become exploited by anti-human's procedure. Nationalism so long as doesn't possess any slaughterhouse until it won't own any motherland, yet it will dangle to any savagery. It will inject deadly opium of patriotism into the workers' intelligence and strength of cognition, and their lives too. Nationalism also changes the masses of workers into a mercenary army of the rule of capitalism and the bourgeoisie. Nationalism does all this to own the homeland and in the context of the terrifying motherland will exploit the working-class into the border of the hunger and misery. That's what all around the world, nationalism is the same destructive phenomenon. What today in Syria we're witnessing, on the one hand, it's the explosion of the holocaust created by global capitalism and on the other hand, it's the hateful Kurdish nationalism's complicity in this disastrous humanitarian event. With the start of the Syria war, the lives and livelihoods of the Kurdish workers in an area between 19 to 42 thousand square kilometres caught in a storm of misery. A few million caught in hunger and poverty, unemployment and misery, lack of health and education could have taken the opportunity to unite, having their councils to perform an organized anti-capitalist movement. With this council movement against exploitation and all forms of capitalist barbaric oppression that they could've been getting into a campaign against it. The Kurdish workers had the opportunity to express as a class power against the government of the barbarian capitalists as they impose their demands on capital. They could have relied on their class power to decrease the pressure of the exploitation of the working class and make lives better, raise their expectations and test their own historic role-playing to get stronger more and more, extend a hand of solidarity and unity with other workers of Syria, Iraq, Iran, middle east and the rest of the world. The Kurdish workers could have increased the depth and breadth of class struggle against invasion by the bourgeoisie, against the totality of the bourgeoisie in the region and all kind of the bourgeois state. The Kurdish workers could have taken steps in this way, what achievement they could've made is a question that doesn't need any mathematical knowledge, but one thing is clear and that is that if the Kurdish workers adopt this approach and raise a flag of their demands, could build the basis of a real class war and hereto improve their daily lives depends on their class ability to change the balance of power between themselves and the bourgeoisie. The Kurdish working masses had that prospect because under the pressure of adversity and misery they would have exploded into an anti-capitalist revolution, but unfortunately, the latch of the explosion wasn't at their disposal but rather in the dirty hands of the Kurdish nationalism, PYD it was. The party that belongs to left reformism, that knows the national seduction role very well. The PYD party deceived the workers to believe that in Kobani and the rest of the dominated region is a classless society, which there is no capitalist and worker, class exploitation is fiction and necessity of class war is nonsense. Here there is only some Arab, Kurd, Syriac, Assyrian, Turcoman, Suni and Shia, Yazidi and Hanafi, Hanbal and Muslim and Christian, in one word a companion of religions and nationalities.!!! that's the creatures who don't have any reason for conflict with each other, man and woman, old and young together just like wolf and lamb live in peace under the flag of Rojava. The common homeland and the valuable national holy borders, being a nation and folk consisted of religions and ethnicities.!!!! The PYD said such to the working masses and the result of discourse became that all of them must guard the Kobani borders. Let's just say that Rojava put aside any talk and discussion about the existence of class conflict, the labourer movement, council organisation of the working class and any sign of class struggle against capital relations. The PYD did so and encouraged the workers to workday and night for increasing profitability for the capital of the capitalists, dedication for defending of capitalist's homeland and fight for this became the life of the working masses. Male & female workers became worn out for capital gains and fighting simultaneously for preserving the territorial integrity of Kobani, and for consistency of the power of the Kurdish bourgeoisie, establishment of governance of PYD and got into a fight against ISIL's wild barbaric bloodthirsty army. In fact, they got into a war that on the one side the most monstrous bourgeoisie with its ISIS, and on the other side many other governments that were under the leadership of the American imperialists. All male & female workers according to the decree of PYD became USA's infantry, soldiers of the American war machine. Any class struggle got dismantled and everything was taken over by the Kurdish Nationalism. Millions of workers, man & woman, old & young and even kids fought with the help of the US army to achieve the goals of the Kurdish bourgeoisie and in the meantime, the total of national leftists of the world applauded for them. All left & right-wing parties of global capitalism, all faction of reactionary bourgeois communism praised them from all tribunes around the world. The right-wing parties talked about the American epic creation and the leftist bourgeoisie compared the Rojava scenario with the rising of the Communards in Paris 1871!!!! The Kurdish nationalism achieved victory in the company of the war army of the international bourgeoisie. The workers' masses continued living in poverty and hunger, lack of drinking water and health & education, inevitably selling their workforce and endure all miseries from capitalism, that's it now is under a flag of the Kurdish bourgeoisie reign. But global capitalism didn't satisfy with that so far and wasn't going to be satisfied either. As the fire of war subsided between ISIS and coalition of American and others, and ISIS was defeated, then after that the Kurdish nationalism lost its matter of importance to the USA and west coalition. The warrior of Kobani that at present is not important as before for American capitalist rulers which now they look like trouble for no reason with the USA. The Kurdish nationalism completed its mission that meant sacrifice the workers for the American bourgeoisie because of nationalism loyalty. That's why these workers weren't required for the western capitalist front anymore. The American bourgeoisie went own way and contemplated the needs of west capitalism with a more brutal dominance, more profits, competitive and much more political criminality. That's why western capitalism had to look for business and dealing with Erdogan's bloodthirsty barbarian regime. The regime that doesn't tolerate the rule of Kurdish nationalism on the southern borders of the country and has always been and going to be in preparation for dismantling the Kurdish self-rule and the right to self-determination of the shareholding of the Kurdish bourgeoisie. The synchronization of totalitarian of the Turk & American bourgeoisie needed victims and the Kurdish workers under the rule of nationalism get be sacrificed in the most brutal and painful way. All this already has happened now and Trump has ejected the Kurdish bourgeoisie out of the west coalition and has opened the way for the Turkish army for a Holocaust of the Kurdish workers, men, women and children. What's happening now in Kobani is an unwritten criminal alliance of the barbaric middle east bourgeoisie and the rest of capitalism around the world for the slaughtering of the Kurdish working-class masses in Syria. The Erdogan's regime army is galloping with all power of the suppressive army and the west & American bourgeoisie disregard this blood bath. The Islamic regime of Iran despite whatever claim and others' statement about the attack of the Turkish army against Kobani may be a great opportunity for Assad's regime to get rid of the Kurdish workers as permanent trouble which has harassed Assad for a long time. In the meantime, Assad's regime triumphant because whatever he wanted to do the Erdogan's regime does. The trophies, conquest and the opportunities that the regimes of Iran, Syria, Russia and Turkey along or not jointly celebrate Turkey's brutal and medieval attack against the Kurdish Workers. Will all this be a lesson for the workers of Kurdistan, working-class of Iran, Turkey and middle east and the workers of the world. Have to hope and struggle to be a valuable lesson in the contemporary history of the workers 'struggle.
