

The war of capitalists and workers in the Corona World Cup !

Corona “ covid 19 “ has profoundly deepened the crisis of capitalism a crisis that isn't generated by Corona but boils from the depth of capitalist existence. This crisis hasn't started in recent years, not even since 2008 or the history of storm surges is not limited to the few last decades. The crisis that has been raging in the arteries of capitalist existence for decades is now advancing with a much stronger and more destructive with Corona. We don't intend to start any discussion about crisis. The purpose of writing these few lines is another matter, but a hint of all the transient and hasty points is inevitable.

1. The crisis of capitalism in the absence of a strong anti-wage movement is not just a disaster for capitalism which usually provides an opportunity for the bourgeoisie and states to refine capital “social capital, total capital of a given country” or global capital from vulnerable sectors and lack of necessary conditions for sufficient value-added, organizing the most stormy ambushes against food and health and medicine, shelter and education of workers livelihoods and simultaneous preparation for the biggest bloodbath and suppression of the labor movement and short and long-term planning for influx of galactic figures of free capital in possible areas of accumulation, technique improvement and cancerous increase of work productivity or plenty of other things. Capitalism has historically done so and in the absence of a pervasive and rebellious, organized campaign against wage labour system, has taken these actions and has disguised these goals as reality. The crisis, when the storm of workers' struggles against the foundation of capitalism don't exist, not the catastrophe of capital, but it's usually the tsunami-like downfall of all the degeneration and rot, decay and fundamental disasters of this system on the life of the working masses.

2. Everyone talks about the severity and crushing of the crisis, from left to right, liberal to fascist and bourgeoisie to workers, in the meantime no one speaks a word about an issue. Under what circumstances did the crisis occur, in what phase of the historical development of capitalism and at what level of the crisis development of this system. Many when they try to justify the dimensions of the crushing and devastating crisis of the day, at its best they cite the example of the crisis of 1929 and the thirties of the twentieth century. These analogies are really different. The crisis of 1930 occurred at a time in the history of capitalist evolution in which the method of capitalist production still saw a world of new realm of capital accumulation. The average organic composition of global capital was less than one percent of today, the degree of productivity of the work compared to today had no place of concern and the degree of world saturation of capital didn't reach today's level. Capitalism still didn't even determine the dominant mode of production in a very large part of the world. All of these differences were a win-win situation for global capital that day and capitalism with these winning cards, could have challenged the crisis as quickly as possible.

It would start a storm of new areas for investments of capital and do many other things that we have actually seen them that's been done. The capitalist system in today's conditions is severely deprived of those facilities, contexts and mechanisms. Redistribute surplus and necessary labour, with the most deadly and fascist repression of the last remnants of the life of the world's working masses, the complete sinking of the lifeboat of billions of workers in the swamp of death from starvation, disease and homelessness is the only sword that capital has pulled out of its sheath. The answer to how effective this weapon is, it can only be heard from the labor movement.

3. We have said that the explosive pumping of the crisis into the fabric of working class life of the world in the absence of a radical anti-capitalist movement it doesn't actually cause a serious threat to the basis of capitalist existence, but the crisis in its current dimensions will ruin the lives of billions of workers. Unemployment and hunger, poverty and misery, displacement and homelessness, disease and psychosis and all other plagues generated by capitalism, will spread to very galactic dimensions and more. To this day, the governments around the world with historical generosity, from the pockets of the working masses have deposited hundreds of trillions of dollars in the accounts of the capitalists to help capital and the wage slavery system in the challenge of the crisis and the possible escape from the great catastrophe resulting from the tsunami-like invasion of the crisis and the fascist solution to find the way of survival of capitalism. The governments have already, for a long time ago, begun to move forward with all their might by cutting all the costs of this issue into the life in sheds and starvation of billions of workers and every day, they go on more terribly. Capitalism commits atrocities in a situation where it has been planning and carrying out these inhumane attacks against workers, day and night for decades. This whole process has now created a situation and it's going very fast where in billions of workers on earth, in spite of all the despair and metamorphosis due to the uniqueness of right-wing trade union reformism and party-oriented left-wing reformism, they will not be able to bear it. Poverty and hunger, homelessness and misery alone do certainly not give rise to a radical and powerful organized anti-wage movement and this need not be said and by repeating it shouldn't open a virtue shop by that.

The main point here isn't to say these things but it's another important fact. If it's life that makes consciousness and not the other way around, a kind of life that the wage slavery system has fundamentally burdened the workers of the world, especially in today's world that it involves the birth of root-seeking consciousness. Movements aren't made by thoughts, it's not leaders and scholars, models and prometheus and party-oriented leaders who are waging a storm of class struggle. It's from the depths of human beings lives that reactions and solutions, thoughts and strategies of struggle are ignited.

4. To the main point, let's look at the real purpose of preparing these few lines. Capitalism for the challenge of the present uncontrollable crisis and except catastrophic destruction and tsunami-like destroying of lives of billions of working-class population, it has no other choice. The working masses, sooner or later, are forced to react to their lives under the pressure of the economic coercion of capital and they raise much wider and more furious banner of strike and protest and will be ready to launch a revolt. The bomb of hunger and misery and homelessness made by capitalism will shake them from their place and lead to the streets. The storm of struggle, strike and revolt sooner or later engulfs the capitalist system. The key issue is what all of these events or all of what the global working class will do, from earth and sky it's exposed to the tatarist invasions of the bourgeoisie. Don't get us wrong, the debate isn't just about bloodbaths and police & military repression of capital, because this is probably the most inefficient and the least effective solution. The whole reformism will enter the battlefield under the feverish banner of the liberation of the working masses. This is a deadly and fundamental danger and the rising movement of the working masses must be freed from the grip of reformism. A war front must be opened in which reformism lacks any kind of field power. We must make every effort to mobilize the working class all over the world with a single and well-planned slogan arising from the urgent needs of the day, but as a link in the chain of all our anti-capitalist war. We suggest the following wishes and solutions below.

First, the total population of the planet is 8 billion and 4 hundred million people. The capitalist system's net profit from the workplace and the brutal exploitation of the working masses also exceeds 86 trillion dollars each year. We emphasize that the global capital in the same conditions of the day, each year after deducting the total costs related to the formation of fixed part of capital and payment of all wages, still receives 86 trillion in net surplus value. If we divide this figure by the total population of the planet, so the share of each family with four members, is 40,000 dollars per year. Our assumption is that at best situation, 12 trillion dollars from the whole galactic figure 86 trillion dollars which will go for needs of modernization and scientific and technical upgrading of production equipments or educational and welfare facilities, again every family of four in the world should receive 30,000 dollars more each year than they do now. This would mean putting an end to poverty, misery and homelessness generated by capitalism which rubble on the working masses. This means that we want the absolute guarantee of the best food and livelihood, housing and welfare, we want medicine, treatments and educations completely free for all workers in world right now. Let us not forget that the above 86 trillion dollars is the result of the total exploitation of world's workers, this is the single word of all of us workers throughout the hell of capitalism. We're fighting to achieve this goal, and on five continents, from America to Asia, from Europe to Latin America and from Africa to Australia, we work together in a single voice. We wrap the boundaries of countries, and we will put all the capitalists and their states together on our hostile front as the guardians of the inhuman capitalist system, as the target of our raging class war.

Second, we oppose spending any penny of our work in horrific, inhumane arms-wielding and belligerent realms and that's because we demand the immediate and cessation of all militaristic planning in the world.

Third, the world bourgeoisie will oppose our demands with all its nuclear and military arsenals, police and government, union and party brainwashing apparatus. The bourgeois states will call us the enemy of national security, the overthrower and the enemy of the homeland and opponent of order. Parties from the right to the left, even under the banner of communism will consider us such some rebellious people without consciousness, unknowingly and anti-party, the trade unions and syndicalists will call our movement as anti-organization, disruptive of order and rebelled. All under different flags and with different colors and glazes but homogeneous will work to dismantle our harmony in this class war. But our power is beyond the power of the bourgeoisie, it's beyond the power of all these. We have the power to do it all at once to disintegrate the whole cycle of capitalist production. Rejecting the parties, tear their savior licenses and throw it in the dustbin of history and expose their syndicalist shopkeeping. We will smash the machine of capital order, we have this ability and have to be ready for that. Let's join hands as anti-capitalist workers, by closing the petition of ideologies, parties and unionism, against capital and the basis of exploitation, against the rule and existence of capitalism. Do it wherever we are, in every work and production center, in every neighborhood and city, in every school and university, every hospital and transportation network, in every farm, port and mine, expand across the country, across the continents and around the world.

Let's create a radical anti-capitalist, nationwide council movement composed of all members of the working class masses.

Fourth, from all available facilities and direct communication, internet networks, streets and workplaces and living and use cyberspace and everything to advance this goal .
